

DAYZ

'We shall see that at which dogs howl in the dark, and that at which cats prick up their ears after midnight.'

(H. P. Lovecraft)

Be afraid. Be very afraid. Just 4 months after its release, this ARMA II mod became so massive with more than 1 million players (making it one of the world's most popular PC games) that Bohemia decided to create a standalone game for DayZ, something quite unusual when we're talking about a mod. It's not like zombies were ever forgotten or unpopular, far from it, but thanks to a revitalization of the genre by series like The Walking Dead or even some movies of late, it has been quite successful everywhere lately, including the videogames industry.

Taking place in the post-Soviet state of Chernarus, where an unknown virus has turned the population into zombies, your role is of a survivor with limited resources that must scavenge the world for supplies such as food, water, weapons, ammo and medicine, while killing or avoiding both zombies and other players - in an effort to survive the zombie Armageddon. It's quite simple, uh? No, it's not. It's in fact so hard that the average life expectancy is something like 1 hour and 10 minutes... unless of course you use TMCheats' own premium hacks to raise the bar higher. As soon as we found out about this mod and saw the endless possibilities it provides, we just had to crack it from top to bottom to offer you a king of the hill dog tag. Besides, these hacks and cheats will work perfectly when the DayZ standalone is released, so start practicing with these to become a berserker when the game is released.

How is DayZ Different?

To spice things up, the game has plenty of toys ARMAII didn't provide, like new weapons and vehicles (you can find crossbows and other less hi-tech weapons, and you can even reuse the projectiles making it a very cool realistic thing), customized medical system (that offers you as real as it gets body responses like too much blood loss causing you to faint, being shot causing you pain or even the inability to walk and that will condition game play a lot, ...). Apart from this, you have to survive hunger too, and that's why the game introduces you to canned food, water canteens, soft drinks and everything else you can imagine and that can be scavenged. Furthermore, you can now hunt wild animals to eat their flesh, as they can be killed and gutted (with the right tools) so you avoid starving and gain blood, which is a novelty too, as the animals that once used to be just graphics or road kill now have a very important purpose. It is real life with zombies added to the mix, basically.

Why Use DayZ Cheats?

First off: DayZ is not a noob friendly game! Usually, a new player will survive for some minutes only, and that is obviously frustrating, as you know too well that when you die you die permanently and that's it, there's no cool down to save your ass, which is the most important reason to use TMCheats, as that way you'll survive longer; result: everything you had gathered, from weapons to food, is now gone, thank you and come again. Funny as it may seem, the more you survive, the more easier will be to keep on doing so, which makes sense as you'll get stronger and more aware of your surroundings and options. Second, our cheats allow you to be virtually invincible, as you can spawn anything you need when you need it, like meds, pain killers, food, beverages, weapons, tools, etc. Then, there's a freaking sweet cheat that lets you spawn ANY item by just knowing its name, even if you never had it personally, so how's that for spiciness? This is just the tip of the iceberg, as below you'll find all that you need to succeed.

What are DayZ Cheats?

DayZ cheats and hacks are TMCheats's solution for the more radical and obsessive hardcore player, as they provide everything needed for superior and customized game play. We obviously gutted the game's code and made the best out of it, so much so that some of our hacks and cheats are UNIQUE, meaning no other hacks and cheats site has them. Obviously, using cheats in any game usually costs you your account or game key as there are applications that scan for them, but the beauty of this is that we bypassed all security measures so you can be safe at all times while unleashing hell at Chernarus. Some other sites supply you with similar anti-ban measures, but they are so weak in concept and design that your account can be banned and will not be refunded. Similar just isn't good enough, trust us. Whatever happens, and no matter how hard you use our cheats, our most important concern is always your account, so fear not and go ahead, as you won't ever be caught. So, and this being said, what have we got in store for you?

1. ESP

ESP (short for Extra Sensory Perception) is the ability to know things other players don't, and that's as simple as powerful! You'll get to know the player's, zombie's, vehicle's, tent's, weapon's or animal's name, distance and health whenever it applies. Basically, this cheat offers you much coveted intel so you don't screw up easily: play A is using weapon X, is at a Y distance and has Z health. Besides giving you premium info to avoid that player if you think it's the wisest decision, on the other hand it will also mark him as a potential target if he is weaker than you, so you can whack him by turning stealthy and surprise him when he's not expecting it. Weaker or not, you'll take everything he's got, allowing you to survive further. In short, it's essential, and combined with other hacks and cheats listed below, essential turns to sick in no time!

2. Shape ESP

Shape ESP let's you convert a player, animal, zombie, vehicle, tent or weapon in the map into a geometric figure of choice between a box, a sphere or a circle. For advanced players it's very handy as by looking at one of the figures they'll be able to instantly know what's in the vicinity, turning a clogged map into easy to remember symbols. If a part of the map is crowded with players or zombies, maybe it's a good idea to avoid it, and if you see an animal with a player in its outskirts, you can kill two birds with a stone: predate the player, ice him, take all his belongings and afterwards kill the animal to provide you with chow! Just great!

3. Spawn Hacks

Simply put, it's the cheat that will keep you way ahead of any competition. You can spawn unlimited weapons, ammo, medicals like bandages or painkillers, inventory items as flashlights, night vision goggles and toolboxes, etc. and custom items, which are the sweetest part of it: even if you never had them or got them from a player you have killed, as long as you know its name, it'll spawn! This last ability is just sick, since you can have whatsoever you want as long as you can name it! Got pwn?

4. Teleport Hacks

So, your 2D Radar (check below to know what this hack is) says you're 10 miles away from a hotspot filled with goons or players and you've just used the Spawn Hacks and got yourself a sweet mother Panzerfaust 3 anti-tank rocket launcher. Problem is, whenever you get there, most probably the action will be dead and you won't be scavenging or looting noobs to reinforce your character. So what?! Just use the Teleport Hacks to get to a nearby high ground and merrily start firing your newly found boom stick in their direction, without having to walk or drive there. When other players are still trying to figure what's going on, and if they start to run, just switch from rocket launcher to sniper rifle and enjoy the duck season. This hack also works wonders very much if you want a more discreet kill. Let's say you want to hack a player to bits with your machete. No problem, teleport behind him and slice him up, simple and silent. This hack is customizable, which means you can set any distance that you want to teleport to and it's done, be it a hotspot, a map marker or the nearest town. As you can see, the beauty about ANY TMCheats' hacks is that you can use them solo or combine several of them at the same time to make the edge even more insane!

5. Crosshair

Crosshair is another hack that's good as gold, as you can configure its size, color and structure when things get messy, like in the middle of a shooting. With so much going on at the same time you just can't afford to lose track of your cross, and night time is even worse as you can miss it easily, so color it white or red or lime green or whatever color that suits you better. Besides, pump its size at your will too, in case you feel it's too small to begin with.

6. Warnings

This is probably one of TMCheats' best offerings: everyone and everything in your customizable close surroundings will be visible to you, even if hidden, so that means no surprises from anyone or anything with your new tingling spider-sense. Someone's alive but still at a privileged spot? My money says it's a sniper, so combine this hack with the teleport cheat, tele behind him and stab the bitch. You just dusted an enemy, took hold of his possessions and found yourself a sweet crib to snipe others yourself, how's that for the Warnings hack? More: if someone's aiming at you, your spidey-sense will warn you too, which is priceless info! As it's customizable to your distance of choice, no one will ever catch you sleeping.

7. 2D Radar

You read about it above, and by now you are already more or less certain about what it does: it will show you the players, zombies, vehicles, tents, weapons and animals in the entire map, as well as entity movement direction. You'll be able to configure colors for everything, as also the Zoom/Scale factor and position so you can rule wherever you please. Like above, it's a great hack to combo with tele and some of the other useful cheats for maximum onslaught and improved survival time. On the other hand, and this is great to piss off someone you hate, just track whoever you want in the map and keep on killing him just for the kicks of it. Someone will be very, very pissed with a god stalking him at all times, and someone will be very, very ROFLMAO with someone else's frustration! Guess who'll be laughing?

8. Script Executor

Like we said before, we managed to crack the game's security system to respect your account. That way, we can guarantee that no matter how hard you push, you'll never get banned for it, as the Battleye has been bypassed for your safety, allowing you to execute any script you want without getting banned. Then, we also refined the executor by making it fully DirectX based, so say goodbye to the annoying alt tabbing of old. Whatever people say, pay no mind to it: TMCheats' advanced technology and our scripting expertise will offer you plenty of good nights of gaming and sleep.

9. Profile System

Finally, another hack that's useful for you to go back as many times as you need, as you can save and load settings, not to mention delete them, and auto-load them as well if you feel like it. Above all, we provide you the freedom to do whatever you want to.